

HONORING THOSE WHO USE INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY TO BENEFIT SOCIETY

2008 COMPUTERWORLD HONORS AWARD

A SEARCH FOR NEW HEROES!

Established in 1988, the Computerworld Honors Program brings together the Chairmen and CEOs of the world's foremost information technology companies to recognize the most outstanding user achievements in technology each year. This year, the Baltic Health Data Network - a result of the former Baltic eHealth project - was one of the award recipients honored in Washington D.C. on June 2nd 2008.
